

Who We Are

Recognized as one of the leading international law firms, with approximately 1,100 lawyers, Cleary Gottlieb has offices in thirteen cities worldwide, including eight in Europe. We operate as a single integrated firm.

Our Brussels office, which was established in 1960, created the model for the multi-national practice of law. Today, our Brussels office has approximately 80 lawyers of at least 20 different nationalities. Since its opening, our Brussels office has been a leader in advising clients on all aspects of European Union law, representing clients before the European Courts in Luxembourg and before the European Commission.

Our Brussels office also has one of the leading national and international corporate practices in Brussels, advising on cross-border mergers and acquisitions, corporate finance and structured finance, sovereign debt restructuring, and tax law. In both its EU and corporate practices, our Brussels office works closely with the Firm's other offices.

We are Looking for Project Attorneys

Assisting mainly in document review, analysis and production for the Firm's litigation, securities, and/or antitrust practice areas.

Duties include reviewing documents for responsiveness to case matter, assisting in maintaining production and privilege logs, assisting case teams in responding to interrogatories, research projects.

Candidates must possess a law degree, be an active member of a bar in good standing and be fluent in English. Previous document review experience and knowledge of a second language is a plus.

This is a temporary, as-needed position that is ineligible for firm benefits. There is no weekly minimum expectation or guarantee of hours worked, though candidates must be prepared to work 40 hours per week with consistent overtime.
